Charming Roses

Paul's Scarlet

Vivid scarlet bloom; retains its color till the petals fall. The reddest flower of all the climbers. Greatly appreciated either as a climber or pillar rose.

Hiawatha.

Hiawatha

Unique in coloring and literally covered with bloom during a long period. Attractive glossy light green foliage. Very charming and distinctive.

Climbing American Beauty

Rich carmine flowers in great abundance. Strong vigorous plants and excellent foliage. Named for its similarity in coloring and type to the well known American Beauty rose.

Climbing American Beauty.

Gardenia

Beautiful yellow buds turning paler after opening, making a most charming sight especially when planted near pink or red shades. Should be used in every garden for contrast with commoner colors.

Dorothy Perkins.

White Dorothy

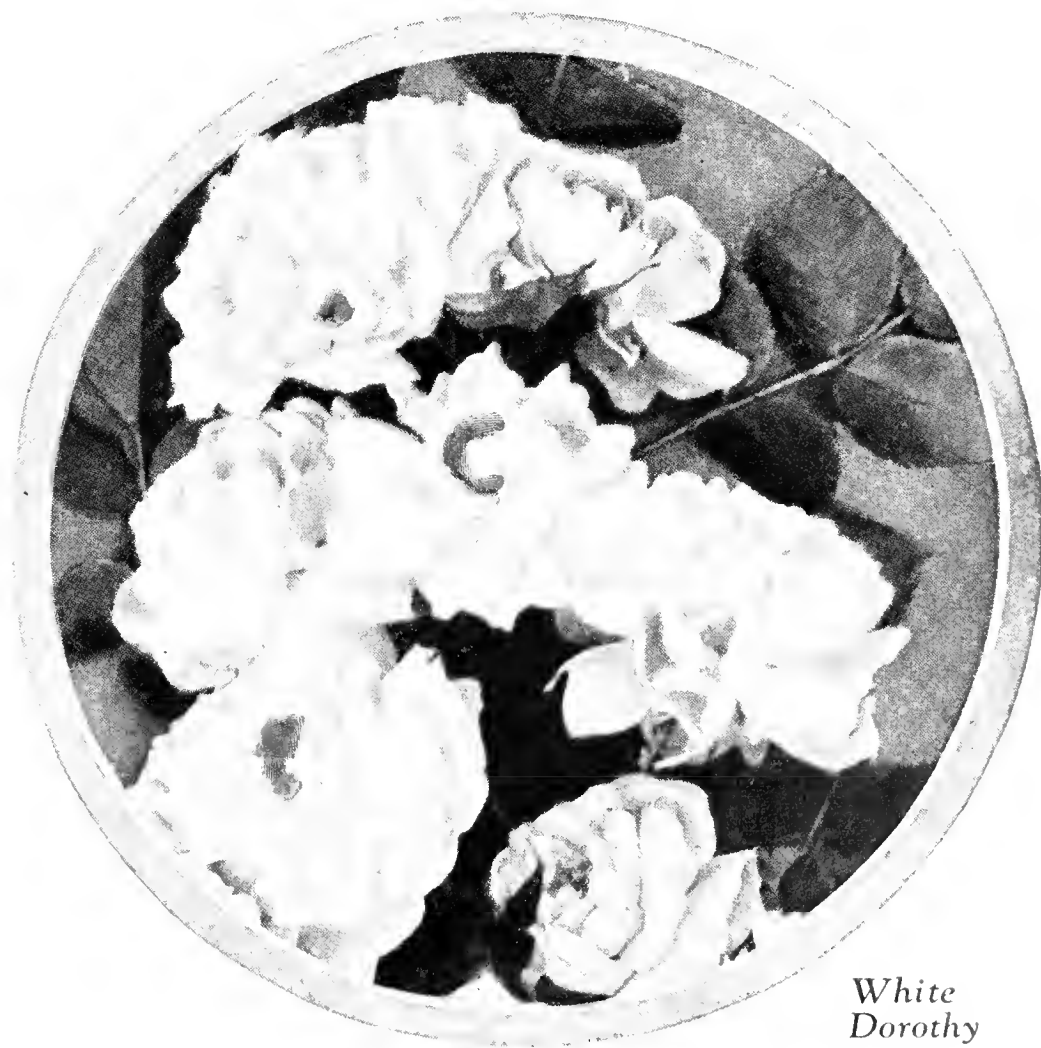

Similar to pink Dorothy except that the bloom is pure shining white. Flowers completely cover the bush. An excellent companion for the Pink Dorothy.

Gardenia.

Dorothy Perkins

Very vigorous and satisfactory. Flowers profusely; exquisite miniature, double flowers in dense clusters and very sweet scented; delicate shell-pink turning to deep rose.

White Dorothy

Excelsa.

Excelsa

Similar to the familiar Crimson Rambler but better in color, hardiness and habit and has no tendency to mildew. Flowers retain their brilliant coloring well and are produced in immense clusters on vigorous, handsome plants. The best of its type.

Mary Wallace

A new Rose of rare beauty. The foliage is especially artistic and the plant very graceful in habit. Blooms very freely in Spring and occasionally in Summer and Fall. The Mary Wallace is hardy, disease resistant, and free from all faults.

Mary Wallace.

Doctor W. Van Fleet

Beautiful and adaptable to a remarkable degree. Buds and foliage very similar to the finest tea roses. Flesh pink. Flowers are produced on individual long stems and the buds are long and pointed. If you could have only one rose you should have Dr. W. Van Fleet.

Tausendschoen.

Tausendschoen (Thousand Beauties)

A great favorite and justly so. A strong grower and almost thornless. The buds of cherry-pink changing to almost white when open, present a most delightful variety of color in great masses of bloom.

Grootendorst.

Grootendorst

The freest blooming variety in the Eskimo Beauty family. It is a strong grower and has a vigorous constitution; a cross between Baby Rambler and a Rugosa and blooms in clusters all season long. The individual flower resembles a small red carnation. It is valuable in beds by themselves, for hedgerows, or as a single plant.

Eskimo Beauties

Eskimo Beauties grow, thrive, and bloom anywhere. They are the ideal cold-climate roses. The plants are on their own roots—grown from cuttings—no tender top to die back, no foreign roots to sucker; root and top are the same variety.

Eskimo Beauties—Rugosa Hybrid Roses—are free from mildew, disease and pests that attack other classes of Roses.

They will grow in the South and in the Middle West; they will stand the Winters of Minnesota and Wisconsin and the Dakotas without protection; in hardiness and vigor, they are kindred of the Fir and Spruce.

New Century ①

Very full and double flowers of handsome form; flesh pink. The plant is of excellent habit and perfectly hardy.

Sir Thomas Lipton ②

Double, pure white flowers borne in great profusion on long stems in early Summer. A very vigorous plant and handsome in foliage.

Hansa ③

Dark reddish violet, double blooms produced in great profusion on plants of great vigor. Very handsome and desirable for unusual coloring and vigor of the bush.

Belle Poitevine ④

Large, double pink Rugosa hybrid, borne in trusses on a vigorous and free-flowering plant. Absolutely hardy and of charming habit. Lustrous, healthy foliage.

Five of the Best Shrubs

Weigela Eva Rathke

Brilliant red bloom in wonderful profusion in June. A handsome shrub at all times. Four to six feet high when full grown.

Philadelphus Virginal

Semi-double, very fragrant white flowers in June. Very graceful compact habit and excellent foliage. A new sort and very popular. Grows six feet high.

Spirea Van Houtte

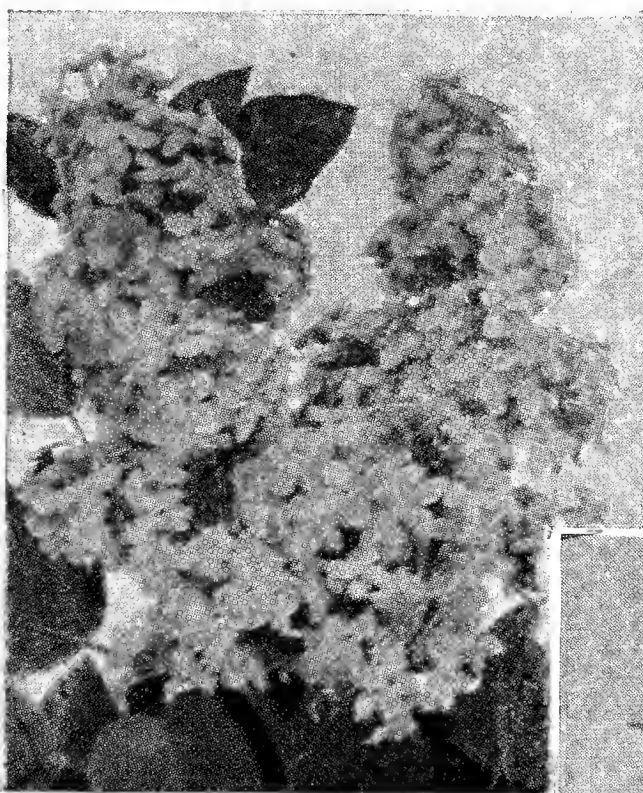

Very popular because of its vigorous graceful habits. A fountain of white bloom in May. Attains six feet in height.

Lilac Rothomagensis

Lilac Rothomagensis

The most vigorous growing lilac and also the freest bloomer. Especially valuable for background and division line planting.

Spirea Anthony Waterer

Low growing, suitable for foreground of shrub plantings. Delicate panicles of crimson-pink in June; attractive foliage. Derservedly popular.
